AMUSEMENTS

"Turned Up" at End.

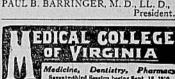

The stock season at the Academy, which opened on April 18, and which has been more than successful, will wind up next week, when the popular Benjamin Players will be seen in a production of the well-known fares comedy, "furned Up," which, however, has never been seen in Richmond. The piece, which is of the most ludicrous variety, was made famous by Nat C. Goodwin in America and by Willis Edouin in London. This week "Niobe" is doing well, and the audiences are laughing every night and at the matiness at the spectacle of a statue turning to life.
